Charters Granted for Corporations in Cities of Charlotte and Burlington.

ORDER MADE PERPETUAL

Winders Restrained From Cutting Timber on Land of Norfolk and Southern.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALPHIGH, N. C., October 6.—The Southern Machinery and Manufacturing Company, of Charlotte, received a charter to-day, the authorized capital being $20,000, and of that $10,000 is subscribed. The corporation has special authority for making machinery in general, acting as manufacturers' agents and carrying on a general machinery repair and foundry business. Among the incorporators are Thomas H. Lee, A. M. Webb and others.

There is also a charter for the Cooper Dry Goods Company, of Burlington; capital $30,000, by W. N. Cooper, M. H. Cooper and others.

(Timber Lands Case.)
An order by Judge Conner, of the Federal court, makes perpetual the injunction restraining J. B. Winders, of Warsaw, from cutting timber from lands in Duplin county, in which the Norfolk and Southern Railroad Company has an interest. In the argument, the Norfolk and Southern was represented by Colonel Harry Skinner. Winders was represented by George Butler, of Clinton, and Powers, who had bought alleged timber rights from Winders, was represented by H. C. Stevens.

Commissioners, are issued by the judge to W. H. Covington as United States commissioner at Rockingham, Richmond county, and to John A. Nasson as commissioner at Smithfield, Johnston county.

The members of the Corporation Commission and Secretary H. C. Brown are spending several days in Western Carolina. At Hickory they locate an underpass for a railroad crossing, at Statesville they look into the matter of a desirable site for a union passenger station. At Stanton to-morrow they pass on some matters pertaining to crossings and sidings, the claim being that an overpass is badly needed. They will also look into the matter of proposed important changes in the schedules of passenger trains on the Murphy branch of the Southern.

The Corporation Commission having taken up with the Southern Railway Company the question of the necessity of an additional passenger train between Sanford and Greensboro, leaving Sanford for Greensboro in the early morning and returning in the evening, it is reported unofficially here that the Southern will put on such a train without an order from the commission.

Colonel Charles E. Johnson, the chairman of the Raleigh municipal and auditorium building committee, gives out the statement that Architect Thornton Marye of Atlanta, designer of the proposed new building for Raleigh, is to furnish the complete detailed building specifications October 12, and that immediately thereafter bids are to be received for the erection of the building, which is to cost $125,000, including the site, which has been already purchased at the corner of Fayetteville and Davis Streets, adjacent to Yarbrough Hotel. The completion of this building is to put Raleigh in touch with State conventions, political and otherwise again.

The session of Wake Superior Court to-day was devoted to the trial of a "white-cap" case from Mark's Creek township, in which John Henry, Thomas Robertson and Thomas Earl, and five negroes were the defendants, and the alleged victim, Jack Royster, colored.

Royster charges that these men called him from his dwelling on a plea of wanting some "safe," and when they got him a safe distance, set upon him with leather thongs. The trial is still on.

RUSSIAN PIANIST WEDS
MARK TWAIN'S DAUGHTER

MISS CLARA CLEMENS

REDDING, CONN., October 6.—Miss Clara Clemens, daughter of Samuel L. Clemens and Ossip Gabrilowitch, the famous Russian pianist, were married at noon to-day at Stormfield, Mark Twain's country home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph H. Twitchell, of Hartford, who married Miss Clemens's parents in 1870. The affair was quiet, about fifty guests being present. The couple were unattended. They left Redding this afternoon, and next week will sail for Europe. They will reside in Germany. Miss Clemens and Mr. Gabrilowitch met first while they were studying music in Vienna eleven years ago. After Mr. Gabrilowitch came to America they met again. He has been a frequent visitor at Stormfield during the past summer.

Mr. Gabrilowitch, who has toured this country and Europe, is considered one of the greatest pianists of the day. His bride of to-day toured this country, giving musicals, last year. Last spring Mr. Gabrilowitch suffered a long illness. While he lay helpless she attended him continually, and to her ministrations and care he attributes his recovery.

Railway and Power Company; President Sitterling, of the Northside Viaduct Company, and Superintendent Marshall, of the Locomotive Works, at which plans were formulated for immediate and urgent measures to prevent further collapse, and to restore completely the entire bridge at the earliest possible moment. It is contemplated that pending the reconstruction of the steel work, there will be erected a temporary wooden arch for foot passengers, while the bridge is being repaired.

Controlled by Street Car Company. The viaduct was built about twelve or fifteen years ago by the Northside Viaduct Company, made up largely of citizens interested in the improvement of the suburbs known as Chestnut Hill and Highland Park. Fritz Sitterling is president of the company, in addition to his position as president of the Chestnut Hill property owners are stockholders. Several years ago a majority of the stock passed into the hands of the street car interests, and the controlling stock is now held by the Virginia Railway and Power Company, which leases and operates the viaduct as a toll bridge and for street car purposes.

AMUSEMENTS

Academy—Matinee, "The American Lord"; night, "The Taming of the Shrew."
Bijou—"Captain Clay, of Missouri."
Lulu—Vaudeville.

Good Comedy, Medecore Company.
Unlike "A Fool and His Money," for which George Broadhurst is alone to blame, "An American Lord," by Broadhurst and Charles T. Dazey, is really a comedy, and the audience at the Academy of Music last night apparently enjoyed immensely its performance by Charles B. Hanford and his company, despite the fact that the play has been seen here before with a famous comedian in the principal part.

Mr. Hanford, though he is a good reader and has an easy stage manner, is not a good comedian—he is not spontaneously amusing. The piece has many clever lines and good situations, and drawn by the lines and the situations, not by the actors who read them or played them.

The company is not good—certainly in comedy. Miss Dornan was intelligent and easy in the part opposite Mr. Hanford, but she too is lacking in spontaneity of humor. Thayer Jackson, in the part of "Robert Bruster," is a type of what is popularly known as a "pious" character.

"Dick Westbrooke," is a somewhat intense juvenile; Harrison Crawford, as "Scott," the negro servant, is a thoroughly conventional stage negro, who says "the sawmill am on fire"; John J. Purke played "Lord Wycherly" in the most apparent old man make-up possible, and the women, except Miss Dornan, were lacking both in pulse and animation.

PRESS NOTES FROM THE THEATRES.
East Lynne.
Local theatre patrons will be afforded an opportunity Saturday, Monday and night, at the Academy of Music, to witness a highly artistic and enjoyable presentation of the greatest emotional drama, "East Lynne," by Joseph King's New York company. The intense scene in which the unfortunate heroine's child breathes its last is the supreme dramatic moment of the play. The performance throughout is maintained at a high standard of artistic excellence. Nothing has been left undone in the way of scenic aids and accessories, and competent stage direction will insure a harmonious performance.

Fred Niblo.
From Gibraltar to the Pyrenees, will be the subject of Fred Niblo's first travel talk at the Academy of Music Monday, October 11. The subject for the following Monday nights are "France, from Paris to Monte Carlo," "Ireland, from Blarney Castle to the Giant's Causeway," "Scotland, from Edinburgh to John o' Groat's," and "Africa, from the Cape to Cairo."—Adv.

TWO HUNDRED ARRESTED FOR USING WHIPS AT FAIR

It was reported last night that about 200 men had been fined by Henrico county magistrates for disobeying the injunction of the police officials that the handling of whips within the Virginia State Fair grounds creates a misdemeanor under the law, punishable by a fine of not less than $2.50 for each offense. If the disorder is such as to warrant it, the fine may be increased to $10 or even to $25.

Many reports were made to the regular and special police by citizens who had been forced to look on, without a chance at defense, while some woman suffered a severe or brutal blow at the hands of some ruffian. In more instances than one a dress or hat was injured by the lash, and time and again a stinging flesh wound was administered.

Chief Werner has issued instructions asking his men to be carefully on the lookout for careless whip-handlers. The Board of Police Commissioners, when the nuisance was denounced last year, requested the management of the State Fair not to issue concessions to persons who would engage in the whip traffic, but the instrument got in on the stands where novelties are sold, and yesterday the sales were so heavy that it was dangerous for a woman to walk in the crowds on Wah Hoo Lane. Until the whip made its appearance, women joined with the men in a harmless battle of confetti, but the result of frequent disorders, all traceable to the whips, has converted the mingled crowd of pleasure-seekers into one composed largely of men.

THE ROYAL MONTH AND THE ROYAL DISEASE.
Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its bunches, cutaneous eruptions and wasting of the bodily substance—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous remedy in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative—consumption.

Bloating Stomach and Belching

Of Gas Is Prevented by Using Charcoal, Which Absorbs and Removes Stomach Gases.

The accumulation of gas in the stomach is caused in the following ways: 1. It may be swallowed in large quantities during certain abnormal conditions of the stomach and food-traction. 2. It may be produced by decomposition of food in the stomach. 3. It is often evolved from changes of the mucous secretions themselves. 4. It may be evolved from the fermentation of the small intestines, and in some cases from a fistulous communication with the large intestine. 5. Gas of an extremely offensive kind is produced by the decomposition of a morbid growth in the stomach, such as cancer, ulcer, tumor, etc. Some forms of food are more prone than others to cause stomach gas, including sugar, starch, and inferior systems.

To relieve the distressing symptoms of gaseous distention of the stomach, the matter what the cause may be, it has been found by numerous experiments that the most reliable and valuable remedy is a charcoal, which directly absorbs the gaseous substances from the alimentary system, besides oxidizing and destroying foul odors, and disintegrating such stomach symptoms as indigestion, fermentation, and composition and bloating. It has also been found extremely serviceable in relieving the gas and fermentative changes in the large intestine, when administered in the form of an enema.

In Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges we have the very best form in which this great gas absorbent and purifier can be administered. They are composed of the finest willow charcoal, treated by a special carbonizing process, and after being combined with pure honey to render them palatable, are compressed into a lozenge, which is agreeable to the palate as candy, and no one could possibly object to their taste.

Go to your druggist and purchase a package of these powerful little absorbents, which are capable of absorbing 100 times their own volume in gases, but be sure to ask for Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, as there are numerous cheap and inferior substitutes and imitations on the market, and it may be that you have given one of these minor brands a trial, and found that it did not give satisfaction; if so, don't fail to try Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, as their superiority and the vast difference between them and others will be so strongly marked and so striking, that you will ever afterward decline all substitutes and insist on having this pre-eminent superior brand.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges at all druggists, 25 cents a box.

MRS. JOHN GILLARD
RETURNS TO ENGLAND

Wife of the Man Who Was Slain in the Struggle
With John Armstrong Chaloner and Her Children Go Back to Old Country.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, Va., October 6.—Mrs. John Gillard, with her six children, sailed to-day from this port for England on board the steamship Wensleydale. It will be recalled that John Gillard, her husband, killed himself some months ago in Albemarle county, while John Armstrong Chaloner, of "Merry Mills," was attempting to disarm the man, who was bent upon murdering Mrs. Gillard. Immediately after the occurrence Mr. Chaloner declared that he would care for the woman and her children until they were ready to sail for England, at which time he would pay all the expenses of the family to Liverpool.

Mrs. Gillard, when asked about her plans, said that she purposed living near Liverpool with her brothers, who were hotelkeepers and well to do. She said that she felt nothing but gratitude for the kind way in which she had been treated by the people near Campbell's, Va., and that she was especially grateful to Mr. Chaloner, of "Merry Mills," for his kindness to her in the time of her trouble and for his generosity in making it possible for her to take her family back to England.

The departure of Mrs. Gillard closes a tragic incident in which the whole country was interested. John Gillard, an Englishman and a skilled engineer, living in Albemarle county, near Campbell's, beat his wife and children and swore that he would kill them all. The woman, in terror of her life, taking two of her children with her, rushed for assistance to "Merry Mills," the residence of John Armstrong Chaloner, and appealed for protection. While Mr. Chaloner was talking to the woman, Gillard came in, armed with a pistol, which he declared that he would murder every one. Mr. Chaloner leaped upon the man, and Gillard shot and killed himself during the struggle. The coffin's jury next day brought in a unanimous verdict exonerating Mr. Chaloner and declaring that Gillard had come to his death by his own hand.

Three shots at C. C. Burgess Tuesday night, came up before Mayor Maurice in the Police Court yesterday morning, but was continued until this morning in order to secure several material witnesses. Caprice was allowed but in the sum of $250, John Onesty, a saloonkeeper, going on his bond.

Dust begrimed and tired, but nevertheless happy, fair goers were returning from last evening's midnight excitement in the parlor of the parsonage of the Cumberland Street Methodist Church, Norfolk county. The flight of Curtiss's aeroplane was especially remarked upon, while the stock exhibitions had their share of praise.
